Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

If you are operating your car under a 1937 license plate, the cops will get you if you don't watch out, and they'll get you if you do watch out, for Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California Highway Patrol has announced that all cars bearing last year's license plates and not displaying an extension permit on the windshield will be investigated. Owners must submit evidence that they have applied for the 1938 plates, or they will be arrested under section 140 of the Vehicle Code which makes operating motor vehicles without proper license a misdemeanor. And then isn't there a little matter of penalty hanging over the delinquent's head?

Bill Cole is going to the University of Oregon. Gee, he waited a long time. Bill is almost as old as I am, lacking some forty years. However, he won't be registered as a sophomore. He's been named line coach and first assistant to Tex Oliver. Bill goes from small but by no means insignificant Tustin, to big league stuff. Well, he's big enough to go there, and smart enough. It takes both.

"Sunny" Sundquist has a different version of Longfellow's poem, "Excelsior," than the one the author had in mind, but see how much more time "Sunny" has had to arrive at his deductions, assisted by modern developments. You know there is more in life than straw or fine wood shavings. Now we have contented cows, and Walter Ranney probably never gave Longfellow a thought when he organized his dairy interests. If you have an onward and upward ambition, "Excelsior" is the stairway you must climb. But the maiden in Longfellow's immortal poem, viewed from present content, worries "Sunny," and I'm too old to do anything except give advice.

Bob Davis says the water moved right up to his ranch located on the banks of the Santiago, and then said good-bye without inflicting any damage, and he appreciates that kind of a call, only there was a feeling for the time being that the water was getting just a little too familiar.

The Assistance League of Santa Ana is sponsoring a dance to be given next Tuesday evening at the Valencia ballroom, the proceeds to go to Red Cross fund-raising. The event is receiving the spontaneous support of service clubs and organizations and citizens generally. Looks like a big success before a foot is shaken—or shook—or sumpin'. Tickets are available most any place, and the time is now. If you encounter any difficulty connecting up with an admission, you could phone the office of The Assistance League in the Ramona building, and won't you? You will get a lot of pleasure out of moving your feet. The flood victims pushed their way out of the danger area with fear and trepidation. Let's help put the joy back into the motivation of these victims.

I have long been familiar with the old axiom that one good turn deserves another, but I did not know that one misfortune called for another. Fem friend fills box with old clothing and starts for (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Coast Guard Saves Five

PASSENGERS ON CRUISER RESCUED

'Hermes' Aids Boat Drifting Off Laguna

Five persons were saved from possible death in the ocean last night when a Coast Guard cutter was sent to the rescue of a boat stranded off Goff Island, south of Laguna Beach.

The 32-foot cabin cruiser "Siren," owned and operated by L. D. Hachez of South Laguna, was disabled from motor trouble a short distance from shore, it was reported. Officials said Hachez left Newport harbor in the face of small craft storm warnings.

A call came in for Harbor-master T. E. Bouchey to go to the rescue of the craft at 6:20 p. m. yesterday. As his tiny speedboat is not suited for rough-weather work, Bouchey was forced to call (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

STORM DRAIN MOVE MADE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A $300,000 county-wide storm drain project to safeguard against future floods was proposed today by Supervisor Herbert C. Legg. He said his figures are based on material prepared by County Engineer Alfred Jones.

Legg said the plan will be submitted to the Los Angeles county supervisors next Tuesday.

In the detailed plan prepared by Engineer Jones 43 different projects were listed, most of them being in the area from Pasadena and Monrovia to Long Beach.

The largest single item was two projects in the East Compton creek district, totaling $12,120,000 for the protection of South Gate, Lynwood, Compton, Vernon, Bell, Maywood and Huntington Park.

COUNTY GIVES $17,896 RELIEF

Orange county's Red Cross flood contributions aggregate $17,896.44, according to Mrs. Laura B. Warren, executive secretary of the county council.

The Santa Ana chapter has received $11,580.92. Other chapter standings are as follows: Anaheim, $2752.50; Orange, $2359.48; and North Orange county, $1193.54.

Mrs. Warren said this morning that only one community, Fullerton, has reported returns to the Northern Orange county chapter headquarters.

San Clemente, with donations totaling $115, is within $10 of reaching the quota fixed in that community.

2 ARMY FLIERS DIE IN CRASH

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—Two United States army observation planes locked wings in midair near Fort Stotsenburg today, and crashed, killing two fliers and injuring a third.

Second Lieutenant William McBeck and Private Nordquist were killed when the planes broke from a formation of five and whirled to the earth.

Second Lieutenant Joseph Nazario, who leaped from his plane with a parachute, was seriously injured when his body struck a tree in the descent. Sergeant Nelson, Lieut. Nazario's observer, made a successful parachute jump.

Merriam Appoints Six From County

Seven men from Orange county communities have been appointed by Governor Frank Merriam to serve on the local Disaster Loan corporation board.

They are as follows: O. T. Stevens of La Habra, chairman; W. M. Corey of Santa Ana, secretary; William Schumacher of Anaheim; William Coulter of Fullerton; Harry Mathis of Anaheim; W. K. Perry of Villa Park and H. L. Wakeham of Tustin. J. J. Dwyer is manager of the local office, situated in the Ramona building.

Loses Title

Marta Rocaforat today gave up her title of Countess of Covadonga which the court allowed her to keep after she divorced the former heir to the Spanish throne, but by losing the title, she gained a husband. Today, in Miami, Fla., she became Mrs. E. H. (Tommy) Adkins, Jr. He's a policeman.

ROSS FREED BY L. A. JURY

Pleading his own case before a federal court jury, L. E. Ross, 51, former shorthand reporter in superior court here, today was free of charges involving misuse of the mails.

Ross was found not guilty yesterday afternoon following two hours of deliberation by the jury in Judge William P. James' court in Los Angeles, which earlier had heard the white-haired Santa Ana denly vigorously he had received obscene pictures with the intent to distribute them, as was charged in a federal grand jury indictment Jan. 5.

He charged the federal government had gone out of its way to "persecute" him. Pictures used against him, he said, were placed in his postoffice box, addressed to "Lucille Ross." Chief prosecution witness was Otto B. Hertwig of Redkey, who was arrested and pleaded guilty to a similar charge.

Faithful

Alice Seglie, secretary to the registration commissioner of New Jersey's Hudson county, would not let state investigators open an election board safe containing ballots from districts controlled by Jersey City's mayor, Frank Hague.

County Appeals For $1,894,400 For Repair Of Flood-Torn Roads

Orange county appealed today to state and federal governments for $1,894,400 for repair of flood-torn roads and flood control works.

Resolutions asking for state funds totaling $1,068,400 were forwarded to Gov. Merriam today following their adoption by county supervisors yesterday afternoon. They asked $848,000 for flood control replacements and $220,400 for repairs to roads. An additional $826,000 was asked from the federal government in WPA funds for flood control work.

LOS ANGELES WPA DENIES LOCAL CHARGE

Orange City Council Plans to Join in Probe

The Los Angeles WPA office was reported sticking by its guns today in flat denial that Orange county workers have been discriminated against in any way.

Orange city council, joining in the complaint currently issued by disgruntled local employees, is likewise planning a probe of its own for the purpose of presenting the matter to the League of municipalities at its next meeting in Fullerton.

From Los Angeles came word again today that all is well here despite what some of the men whose wages have been lowered may think. Again refutation resounded from the headquarters this morning that no Orange county men have been removed.

Los Angeles flatly branded as erroneous reports that out-of-the-county WPA workers are taking over the jobs of the local men.

It was pointed from Los Angeles that only a few jobs have been filled by outsiders, and these were in highly specialized fields where no one in the county was available to handle the work.

Where wage cuts have been they were made only to economize. Non-relief workers who have lost their positions in Orange county have been replaced by local persons certified from the relief roll, the Los Angeles office further alleged.

FLOOD BOND BIDS SOUGHT

Supervisors today called for bids on $1,455,000 worth of flood control bonds, to be sold at 11 a. m. April 19.

The bonds are part of a two and a half-million dollar issue authorized at a special election last year. The present funds will be used for purchase of options on land which will be flooded by the Prada dam, and other flood control dams, and for relocating the Santa Ana canyon highway and Santa Fe railroad near the Prada dam site.

Supervisors decided yesterday afternoon that they would ask for bids on the total amount of bonds, rather than offering them for sale in blocks of $200,000.

Whitney Expelled From Stock Mart

NEW YORK. (AP)—Richard Whitney, bankrupt broker awaiting sentence on two grand larceny charges to which he has pleaded guilty, was expelled from the New York stock exchange today.

The expulsion order, voted by the governing committee last night, was read from the rostrum at the opening of today's trading by Charles R. Gay, who succeeded Whitney as president of the exchange.

Plot to Assassinate Vargas Is Nipped

RIO DE JANEIRO. (AP)—Central police headquarters announced today that a fascist plot to assassinate President Getulio Vargas and for revolts in several provinces had been smashed.

Three thousand daggers bearing swastika emblems were found in a raid on the home of Plinio Salgado, leader of the once powerful fascist integralist party, police said.

Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson told the board that replacements of damaged flood control works would cost $1,674,000. The state grant would be used for the sponsor's share if the WPA application is granted, it was said. WPA funds would be unavailable for the $220,400 job of road repair, Highway Superintendent A. A. Beard said, because the work is principally a job for machinery.

WOMEN URGE JURY SCHOOL

Predicated on the belief that jury duty is one of the most important jobs of an American citizen, a school for jurors will be opened in April under the auspices of the Orange County League of Women Voters.

Superior Judge Homer G. Ames will act as instructor for the three class sessions. Each will take up a different phase of jury work.

The classes, according to Mrs. Mae Geeting, president of the League, are the offshoot of League-sponsored Public Affairs classes, held weekly at the YWCA, in which discussions of jury duty have played a prominent part.

Mrs. J. D. Campbell has been instructing the class.

Members of next year's jury panel for the county will be issued a special invitation to attend the classes, Mrs. Geeting said.

FIRST LADY IN LONG BEACH

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's lecture tour brought her to Long Beach today for another of her talks on the problems of youth. She will speak there tonight at the municipal auditorium.

Word was received from Los Angeles by The Journal that Mrs. Roosevelt will be unable to appear here tomorrow night as the principal speaker on a scheduled flood benefit program, because of prior engagements.

She will leave tomorrow for Sacramento, it was explained.

Thief Gets Violin At Music Project

Pawn shops and antique dealers were being combed today for evidence on a $625 theft from the Federal Music Project here yesterday.

Jeneva Whittaker, violinist connected with the project, reported the loss of an expensive old violin, bow, case and pair of eye-glasses from the music project headquarters at Third and Ross streets.

Navy Board Probes Fatal Air Crash

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—A navy board of inquiry today investigating the crash of a navy bombing plane near the Rancho Linda Vista airport on Kearney Mesa yesterday. Two fliers were killed and burned by a fire which destroyed the plane. They were Herbert W. Younkman, aviator cadet formerly of Jersey City, N. J., and Julius D. Berry, machinist's mate first class of Puyallup, Wash.

The board is headed by Rear Admiral C. D. Johnson, who is in charge of the investigation. It is expected to report its findings within a few days.

ACCUSED OUT FROM SKILLET INTO FIRE

Pipe Theft Suspect Free Here, Not There

Arthur V. Sullivan, former Brea trucking operator, was free today on probation on charges of stealing $780 worth of oil well pipe—but he faces trial in Los Angeles county for a similar crime.

"Several good citizens of Brea," said Superior Judge James L. Allen, "have advised me not to give this man probation. They say it's just making horseplay out of the courts to let him get away with it again and again."

But on Sullivan's promise to pay for the pipe, which he admitted stealing from the Birch-Royer Oil company, and on the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

2 MORE HELD IN COW RUSTLE

Norman H. Coelho, son of a dairymen in the Garden Grove district, and Ralph Sidwell, Garden Grove youth, today joined Glen Sidwell, 22, Garden Grove, as defendants to grand theft charges in connection with the disappearance of three dairy cows from Coelho's father.

Coelho and Ralph Sidwell were arrested late yesterday after the other Sidwell youth reportedly had told deputy sheriffs they were implicated with him. The boys are charged with taking the cattle and selling them to a Los Angeles stockyard.

Capistrano Mission Waits Arrival Of 'Miracle' Swallows

Out of the south they'll come winging in the first rays of dawn tomorrow—those tiny emissaries of San Juan Capistrano's annual miracle.

Tomorrow is St. Joseph's day. And on that day for years immemorial, the swallows have come home to Capistrano's mission.

Father Arthur Hutchinson, the mission padre, said today the first scouts already have appeared, wheeled over the mission walls, and flown away again. The swifts who have lived in the swallow's clay watties all winter are darting about nervously. They too know the annual battle for their homes, in which they always lose, will be fought in the morning.

Sound trucks, cameramen, news reporters and hosts of tourists and sightseers will greet the feathered legions as they arrive.

NEW YORK. (AP)—In a $1,000,000 damage suit against bridge ace Ely Culbertson, Culbertson's former wife, Josephine, who is his partner at cards, and five other bridge experts, Willard S. Karm has charged they ruined his bridge career by circulating false rumors he cheated.

Hitler Reported Moving To Annex Danzig And Memel

War-frightened Europe turned anxious eyes today on tiny Lithuania, pondering its all-important answer to Poland's curt ultimatum, "Give in or fight!" On Lithuania's answer hinges a possible Baltic war, which might involve the world's powers in another titanic struggle. Britain redoubled its efforts for peace as the deadline for Lithuania's answer (noon, P. S. T., tomorrow) neared.

All Europe Shows Symptoms of War

By the Associated Press
BERLIN.—High source says Germany withdrew opposition to threatened Polish invasion of Lithuania in return for acquiescence in possible German annexation of Danzig; Nazi spokesman says Germany would march into Memel as parallel to Polish invasion; reichstag gathers to hear Hitler.

Paris.—France and Russia agree to press Poland and Lithuania for peaceful settlement of newest war danger.

Kaunas.—Lithuanian parliament summoned to decide answer to Polish ultimatum expiring tomorrow; Nationalists demand rejection.

Warsaw.—Informed sources say Poland will resort to arms, if necessary, to "normalize" Polish-Lithuanian relations.

London.—Prime Minister Chamberlain maneuvers to block Polish-Lithuanian clash and halt aerial attacks on civilians in Spain.

Barcelona.—Insurgent air raids continue; toll for two days is 560 dead and 1000 wounded.

Hendaye.—Insurgents report 2000 Spanish government soldiers killed at Caspe as insurgents drive closer to the sea.

Vienna.—Kurt Schuschnigg, Nazi-ousted chancellor, may be permitted to remain in German Austria; trial unlikely.

But powerful Germany, anxious to regain its lost Baltic possessions, was believed to have withdrawn its opposition to the threat of Polish military action, in return for Polish acquiescence in a possible German annexation of the free city of Danzig.

The fate of both Danzig (taken from Germany by the treaty of Versailles) and Memel, war-torn Baltic port, was believed to hang on Lithuania's reply to the Polish demands. Informants close to the chancellery said Poland would stand aside if Germany moved to regain the two cities.

Wife Jealous Of Trees, Witness In Heil Divorce Says

"Mrs. Heil said if her husband thought more of his trees than he did of her, he could stay home if he wanted to."

This testimony was offered in superior court in Los Angeles yesterday in support of charges by Charles F. Heil, 63-year-old prominent Orange county rancher and creamery executive, that his young wife was unkind and inconsiderate of him after marriage.

It was given by Mrs. Catherine Lux, who said the words were part of a conversation between Mrs. Heil and another woman. Heil, Mrs. Lux said, was too tired to attend a party because he had been working hard to keep his trees from freezing.

Heil is suing for divorce on grounds of cruelty; and his wife has on file a cross-complaint asking that the decree be granted to her. The rancher charges his wife induced him by fraud to give her $30,000 worth of citrus land before their marriage.

STREAMLINER DUE TOMORROW

The new Santa Fe streamliner, making a trial run between Los Angeles and San Diego Saturday, is tentatively scheduled to arrive at Santa Ana tomorrow morning between 8:40 and 9 o'clock.

At this time four local high school and junior college pupils will board the train as honored guests of the railroad company on the run to San Diego.

U. P. to Resume Train Service

Beginning Monday, all Union Pacific railroad trains in and out of Southern California will be running on regular schedule, according to word received at the local office this morning.

Owing to the flood, the company's lines were badly damaged and passengers to the East were transferred by bus to Union Pacific trains outside California.

Absent-Minded Professor Bobs Up Down in N. M.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) This week's absent-minded professor—Dr. E. C. Donnelly of the University of New Mexico. Hurrying to a luncheon appointment he found his automobile had a flat tire. Dr. Donnelly called a repairman and paced the sidewalk.

The tire fixed, he climbed in, but his keys wouldn't fit. Reason? It wasn't his car. The Donnelly machine, its tires amply inflated, was parked immediately behind.

BANDIT HUNT UNAVAILING

G-men were as baffled as the sheriff's office, and both were working on skimpy clues today as the robbery who twice held up Buena Park's Southern County bank remained at large.

Officers searched Southern California to find the dark blue sedan, perhaps riddled with bullets, in which the bandit made his escape after forcing Cashier Bert Wells to hand over $250 in currency and silver yesterday morning.

The investigators' best lead, meanwhile, vanished when Wells looked at a picture of their prize suspect, Joe Laracey, former San Quentin prisoner wanted for murder and robbery, and insisted he was not the man.

'Mayor' Matt Lujan Gives $100 Relief

"Mayor" Matt Lujan of Delhi turned over $100 to the flood relief fund today—results of last night's benefit show at the Princess theater.

Lujan reported attendance so good that spectators stood in line to see Tu Hijo, the Mexican picture. Two performances were given to accommodate the crowd.

Thanks were expressed by the committee in charge to Manager K. E. Sharrock of the theater, and to the local boys and girls who participated in supplementary vaudeville acts.

ROOSEVELT PLEASSED WITH REACTION TO HULL'S SPEECH

Executive Not Considering Lifting of Foreign Arms Embargo, He Tells Press

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt termed excellent today the domestic reaction to Secretary Hull's speech which charted for America middle course between internationalism and isolation.

The President said he had not yet seen the comments from abroad. Repeating to questions at his press conference, Mr. Roosevelt said he Irishmen, and Irishmen by adoption and sympathetic impulse, were a wearin' of the green yesterday. That would have made a good story, with an eye-witness reporter to serve the obsequies.

Don't forget, March 21 first day of spring. I don't know what you are going to do about it, but the astronomical boys designated it as the vernal season. It's supposed to be a safe time to put in a garden, but as a precaution you might take into consideration the neighbors' chickens — or maybe your own.

If you had worked hard all your life, accumulated a small amount of money, and invested it in an orange grove with a series of payments coming due, but a flood which wasn't due according to your calculations knocked into a turbulent stream your initial payment and the ground you were trying to pay for, what then? Why, thank your stars if it wasn't YOU. You can only appreciate what you have by making comparison by what the other fellow hasn't.

What I want to get over is that the weather man was unable to deliver the liquid.

Consults Diagram Of Body Before Shooting Self

EL CENTRO, (AP)—Leon E. Fifer, 29, of Omaha, Neb., was found critically wounded in his automobile near here today in what Sheriff R. W. Ware reported was a suicide attempt.

The sheriff said Fifer consulted an anatomical diagram of a man's body before shooting himself with a .32 automatic pistol. The bullet barely missed his heart.

"I'm tired of living," the sheriff quoted Fifer as saying. A sister, Mrs. Philip Krens, resides at 1425 N. Crescent Heights, Los Angeles, Ware said.

100 ADDRESSES WAIT DELEGATES TO METAL MEET

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—More than 100 addresses by noted scientists will feature the sessions of the Western Metal congress, to be held at the Pan-Pacific auditorium March 21 to 25.

The sessions will be open to all industrial heads, technical men and heads of departments, said William P. Woodside of Detroit, vice president of the American Society of Metals, who is now here. Eleven western states will be represented in the congress.

Metallurgy's latest progress by the x-ray, microscope, heat-treating process, the art of blending or alloying basic elements will be reported.

With x-rays the scientists will peer into the hearts of steel castings to determine whether a fissure exists, and according to the program, will endeavor to determine what causes such flaws.

By the microscope they will study the internal molecular structure of broken metals, a condition which comes from heat treatment, and will seek to increase the tensile strength by inducing greater cohesion of the steel's inner grain.

W. H. Eisenman, of Cleveland, secretary of the American Society of Metals, in charge of the congress, said scientists from leading laboratories of the nation will attend to report their discoveries of the year.

One of the speakers will be A. F. Stuebing, railroad mechanical engineer of New York City, who will discuss high strength structural steels in transportation, one of the factors making possible the modern streamline trains.

Another will be Dr. A. Allan Bates of Pittsburgh, chemist and metallurgist, whose topics on steel include ingot structure, influence of raw materials, internal changes during heat and cooling of steel and their effects on strength and toughness.

Shortly afterward the boat's engine ceased to function, and a distress call was sent out.

FDR TO OPPOSE PAY CUTS FOR R. R. WORKERS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt expressed an offhand opinion today that a wage cut for railroad workers at this time would be inadvisable.

Asked what he thought about this question, under consideration by railroad management in Chicago today, the President told his press conference he had not given this angle of the railroad problem any consideration.

When asked whether he thought a cut in wages at this time would be advisable, he hesitated a moment and then replied that offhand he would say it was not.

In reply to other questions about his railroad rehabilitation conference yesterday, the President said the estimate of savings through consolidation by Chairman W. M. W. Splawn of the interstate commerce commission—that 70 per cent would have to come from labor and 30 per cent otherwise—was based on physical mergers of the roads.

As a result of this conference, a special presidential committee studied today the proposed creation of a federal agency empowered to promote railroad consolidation and reorganization.

COUNTY FEARS RELIEF PLANS

More rigid eligibility requirements for state relief administration clients, now being considered, would increase Orange county's relief rolls, Welfare Director Jack W. Snow warned county supervisors yesterday.

Snow and Supervisor Steele Finley were authorized by the board to attend a meeting in San Francisco tomorrow at which the SRA changes will be considered. Finley did not vote on the question, which indicated he was not interested in the trip. The motion to send Finley and Snow was made by Supervisor N. E. West, who recently unseated Finley as controlling influence in the welfare department.

MOSCOW, (AP)—The arrest of Nikolai Vassilevitch Krylenko, former commissar of justice, was indicated today by the publication of "wrecking" accusations against him.

The charge was said to have been made directly against Krylenko at a meeting of the justice commissariat's staff at which his successor, Nikolai M. Ryckov, presided.

Krylenko was dismissed Jan. 17, charged with paying more attention to chess and mountain climbing than to his ministry.

Dentist Finally Gets Cleared Up With Court

Dr. S. W. Wallace, dentist convicted of stealing wages from employees and teeth from customers, had untangled his snarled relations with Santa Ana justice court today—but he still has business with the city court next week.

Judge Kenneth E. Morrison gave Wallace a six-month sentence on each of three theft counts today, then suspended the sentence on condition the dentist pay the court $10 a week for a year for restitution to the complaining witnesses.

Next Tuesday, Dr. Wallace will face trial on a drunkenness charge in City Judge J. C. Mitchell's court. He's at liberty on $25 bail.

strength of a $150-a-month job promised in Brea, Judge Allen granted four years' probation.

Los Angeles authorities, however, want Sullivan for a similar offense and will take charge of him at the county jail tomorrow. Irvin L. Laughlin, 19-year-old janitor, was freed temporarily on burglary charges, but must report back Sept. 1 for pronouncement of judgment. He admitted making a skeleton key to break into the safe at the Wright Transfer company, where he worked, so he could get money to take a girl to a show.

Second Drilling Hearing Sought

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A petition asked that Governor Frank F. Merriam call another special session of the legislature to consider a proposed state oil production control bill was being circulated today by the Voluntary Committee of Independents.

A. D. Mitchell, committee chairman, said delay in shaping the bill to please a majority of the oil operators prevented the recent special session from being presented the bill.

Declaring that daily production of more than 200,000 barrels represented by petitions already signed by independent oil producers, Mitchell said that only six firms or individual operators so far have opposed the bill while more than 175 favor it.

DANCE FESTIVAL BY MYRA KINCH GIVES PROMISE

From the dances of the past and current rhythms of night clubs and dance halls, America is building a folk dance typical of the nation. That is the contention of Myra Kinch, internationally known danseuse, appearing Monday night in the Santa Ana High school auditorium.

Miss Kinch's program is titled "Festival of Modern Dance." It is a Federal theater touring attraction and proceeds will be donated to the Santa Ana Junior college student loan fund.

The star will be supported in her program by a company of 12. Reserved tickets are on sale at the Santa Ana bookstore, 205 West Fourth street.

MOONEY RAPS STATE COURT

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Counsel for Thomas J. Mooney told the supreme court that the California supreme court "has become a party to the frame-up" of the prisoner who is serving a life sentence for complicity in the 1936 San Francisco preparedness day bombing.

This assertion was made in a brief filed in support of a recent petition asking the high court to review Mooney's conviction.

Signed by Attorney Frank P. Walsh of New York and others, the brief asserted that Mooney's conviction "was obtained by perjured testimony, by the state's knowing use of such perjured testimony, and by the state's suppression of material evidence."

Nazi Will Try Our Brand of Publicity

Joh. Krichbrunner, of Berlin, Germany, is apparently tired of reading the kind of propaganda Adolf Hitler and his publicity department are issuing. And so he struck upon a better idea. He has written to the chambers of commerce in Southern California for some sunny reading matter.

His letter to the Santa Ana chamber, in verbatim form, is as follows: "Dear Sir! Please send me some information on investments and farming possibilities in your county (signed) Joh. Krichbrunner, Berlin, Germany." The message left Germany March 1 and arrived here less than 15 days later.

HARBOR DISTRICT TO DEMAND WIDER CHANNEL FOR RIVER

PROTECTION IN LOWLANDS IS AIM OF SURVEY

Bridge Realignment Also Recommended

Newport-Balboa will begin a drive to obtain a wider channel for the Santa Ana river near its mouth at a joint meeting of the harbor chamber of commerce and the Costa Mesa chamber slated for next Monday.
Definite recommendations for widening have been made by the street and highway committee, following overflying of the river during the recent flood.
Stating the present channel is entirely inadequate, the committee report, if adopted Monday, will be forwarded to the county supervisors for action, with a suggestion that the channel be widened from the Talbert bridge to the entrance at the ocean.
The committee further will recommend that the channel entrance to the sea be kept open at all times, especially before heavy rains.

W. H. Adams, chairman of the committee, also recommended study to devise some thorough method for draining the area between Huntington Beach and the bluffs on the west side of the river. This should be planned, that the highway, when rebuilt, will be protected at the shoulders at points where washes are likely to occur.

It also will be suggested that when the present state highway bridge is repaired or rebuilt it be aligned with the highway on the west, thus eliminating the present crook in the road and that necessary additional width be added to care for a widened channel.
Raising of the highway at Bitter Point, slightly eastward from the river, to a height of two feet above its present level also is recommended by the committee. Assisting chairman Adams in the survey were J. P. Greeley, Theo. Robins, Henry Vaughn and George P. Wilson.

Former Journal Carrier Pops Up From Way Out West

There aren't any picture shows or any pail to run around with, out where Carl Downs is living.
He was back in town for a visit today—his first real trip to "civilization" since he and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Downs, moved out to Temcula, southeast of Lake Elsinore, on a gold-mining expedition.
The 15-year-old youth, a Journal carrier from the time the paper started until he moved away, had a lot of things about the Wild West to tell his Santa Ana friends. He was a student at Willard Junior High school. Now there isn't a school close enough for him to attend. He's been helping his parents work a 160-acre placer mining claim up in the country Ramona made famous.

Carl says he hasn't lost his interest in aviation. He's just waiting for his 16th birthday, in May, when the government will let him make his first solo flight. He plans to enroll in Ryan School of Aeronautics this summer.
One of Carl's errands during his visit was to subscribe to The Journal so he and his folk could "keep posted" on what their former friends here are doing.

Thieves Visit County's Edge

Thievery's been done on a big scale at Orange county's "last out-post" for the past few days, the sheriff's office learned today.
Joe Hiltcher, Romany drive, Anaheim, discovered a four-horsepower gasoline engine, a 1000-gallon redwood tank and 400 feet of pipe were taken from his Carbon Canyon ranch.
The ranch is just inside the county line in the "wilds" of Carbon canyon.

Juveniles Loot Grocery Emporium

A band of youngsters today was getting blame for burglary of F. A. McDonald's grocery store at 1305 Seventeenth street, Westminster.
Loot included $10 worth of bakery goods, candy and chewing gum, some of which was found a half mile away from the store.
The juveniles, still unidentified, apparently gained entrance by breaking a padlock from the front door.

ST. JOSEPH'S

Within—
The noise and bustle of this streamlined world is silenced; The great strong walls, the passages and rooms are all complete.
A structure reared for service, and to serve;
Its doors like great St. Bernard's—open wide.
To those whose bodies need repair;
A hospice for the sick, diseased mind.
The sisters, with their poise and graciousness
Are swift to act, when called upon for aid;
The Padre too,—resourceful and alert,
Is at the helm;—but not alone he stands—
With knowledge and sound wisdom in the surgeon's hands.
The wheels of this great structure move at their command.
And when the evening shadows creep around
The rooms and passages where pain is found,
Methinks One passes, robed in white, invisible,
From Whom, diffused, are rays of Holy Light.

CALIFORNIA

The snow-capped mountains smile
On sunlit orange groves galore;

It's here the roses always bloom;
It's summer time, the whole year through.
And when we look beyond the deep;
To see the sunsets, red and grand,
No picture ever was made up,
Like California's golden land.

Chamber Deluged With Posey Blooms

The "Swing Into Spring" idea, so successfully launched by the Santa Ana chamber of commerce among local merchants recently, returned to the headquarters of its originator like a homing pigeon yesterday afternoon.
Every table and counter in the new chamber of commerce lobby is loaded down with hundreds of fragrant flowers, and as time progressed today, the spring-time harbingers were even invading the committee room. By tonight, only the San Juan Capistrano swallows will be needed to make the "Swing Into Spring" scene at the chamber building complete.
The occasion for the display is in celebration of open house. The flowers are the compliments of individual local merchants and civic organizations.

PURSE - SEINING

What hurts fishing,
I think in the main,
Is the drag that is held,
By the old purse-sein.
They get up early,
And are out with the sun,
They have a big drag,
IN more ways than one.

When everything,
Is said and done,
They have a way,
John-law to shun.

The law on them,
Should be in force,
They have a way,
ON their course.

They always take,
(With selfish greed)
A lot more fish,
Than ever they need.

When they get that,
The canny will take,
They haul in more,
For fertilizer-sake.

They even drag in close
To the shore,
Come back the next day,
And do it some more.

Then too, they rob,
The fish of bait,
And sein sardines,
Both early and late.

I'd like to see,
Them in a jam
And have to take
It on the lam.

Bank Sued Over $1675 Note

Asking cancellation of a $1675 promissory note on grounds there was no valid consideration for it, Louise Kelley and C. S. Kelly had filed suit today in superior court against the First National bank in Santa Ana.

The note was signed, the Kelleys alleged, as payment for the bank's services in aiding them to get a loan from the Home Owners Loan corporation. They alleged they have paid $110.19 interest and $939.81 principal since they made the note March 18, 1935. They asked the court to cancel the note and give them judgment against the bank for the amounts paid.

MONROVIA, Calif. (AP)—It was a "sweet" job of safe-cracking that burglars did at a chain market here.

LOCAL PLAYERS WILL SPONSOR DRAMA CONTEST

Santa Ana will play host for the 12th consecutive year to Southern California's outstanding little theater groups on April 22 and 23, President John Colwell of the Community Players announced today.

Those dates were selected this week for the yearly tournament of one-act plays.
During the years since the tournament idea first was born, more than 30 cities have sent their players here, many repeating year after year. A New York drama publication listed the Santa Ana Community Players this year as one of the nation's four outstanding little theater groups, naming the tournament as its chief accomplishment.

A board of three judges will be selected to review the competing dramas. A substitute will be chosen for Havrah Hubbard, San Diego dramatic critic, who is in Europe this year.

Invitations were mailed this week to players' groups throughout the Southland. As an incentive for entering the tournament the usual prizes of $50 for the best play, $25 for the second, a cup for the best comedy, and book awards for individual work will be awarded. All non-professional little theater organizations are eligible to compete.

The plays will be given on Friday and Saturday nights in the Ebell auditorium. On Saturday afternoon a round-table conference will be held in the Ebell. ## TRIO DETAINED AS SUSPECTS IN MAIL THEFTS

OAKLAND. (AP)—Two men and a woman were detained by police after they were interrupted while digging up a concrete sidewalk with a steel bar here.

Police Inspector George Pratt said the trio—William Ryan, 39, of Los Angeles; Pierre Saleno, 37, of Alameda; and Dianne Sherwood, San Francisco—explained they were looking for money lost in a crack in the sidewalk a few years ago.

Pratt said an investigation disclosed there was no crack in the sidewalk. The street was widened recently, however, and the sidewalk moved back. Pratt said the part of the sidewalk on which the bar was being used looked like it had been laid by an amateur.

Pratt said Saleno admitted he had served a term in San Quentin prison for a payroll robbery in Los Angeles in 1930.

Investigating on the theory money from a robbery might have been buried under the sidewalk, Pratt said the men would be questioned concerning the $77,000 Pacific Gas and Electric robbery in San Francisco 14 years ago, and a Southern Pacific $56,000 mail robbery near Noble in 1931.

Pratt said the men told him they met Miss Sherwood in Los Angeles and agreed to drive her to San Francisco.

Willard School Notes

"How I Can Help to Perpetuate Americanism," a 300-word theme, sponsored by the American Legion, will be written by Willard students in their English classes. Mrs. Maurine Scott, head of the English department, said today.

Mrs. Ray Roepke, local Americanism chairman, will judge the winning essays for the money prizes. The class room teachers will choose the best six or less essays to be entered on their grade contest.

The best in Willard will receive a prize of $2 and the next two $1.50 each. The four winners from each competing school will send their themes to the statewide contest. The prize for this contest has not as yet been announced, according to Mrs. Scott.

The Willard judges of each grade's compositions will be the teachers who do not have any English classes in that grade. Mrs. Mabel Budd, and Mrs. Ruth Low, will judge the seventh grade themes; Miss Vanche Plumb and Miss Bonnie Kiser, the eighth; and Miss Alberta Green and Mrs. Maurine Scott, the eighth.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

The entrance into the political arena of the Townsend party in California will make the coming political campaign difficult to forecast. Just now it appears that the larger number of Townsend club members will change their party affiliations to that of the Townsend party.

Already the leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties are concerned with what significance the entrance of the new party into the field of politics will have on their political fortunes. From which party will the larger number of the new party come, both Republicans and Democrats are asking. Will the new political party result in any shifts in political dominance from what has lately existed is a natural inquiry of both major parties? These questions and others similar are being milled over in the minds of all political leaders, for the fortunes of the people and political parties alike are the stakes which will be played for.

This column believes that the Townsend party will exert a far greater effect on the results in the coming campaign than most political leaders are expecting. It believes, however, that when final registration results are tabulated in preparation for the August primary election, it will be found that the Democratic party will still be the dominant party in the 19th congressional district and probably in the state. The Republican party numerically speaking will be the next in point of strength, and the Townsend party will follow, with other political parties trailing along with similar positions held heretofore.

From the standpoint of electing a congressman from this district (which is the primary interest of the Townsendites) a peculiar situation is going to develop. There is a general desire among Townsend club members to see Congressman Harry R. Sheppard defeated, as it is generally conceded that he will be nominated by the Democrats in the primary election, and will therefore be a runner-up in the fall campaign. The Republican candidates will be possessed with a similar desire and will attempt Sheppard's defeat. The question will be whether or not the Townsendites or the Republicans working independently of each other, can command a sufficient number of votes to elect their candidates in competition with the Democrats who will be backing Sheppard. The writer thinks it very doubtful. He thinks that if such a course is followed it will be a bitter pill for both the Townsendites and also the Republicans to swallow.

The election of Harry R. Sheppard in the last campaign was forced on the Democrats by the Townsendites. Some of the Democrats liked the situation, but a lot of them didn't, but there wasn't anything they could do about it. The Townsendites had outsmarted them politically and in a sense had taken temporary possession of their political forces. They didn't like Collins and so there wasn't anything to do, but vote for the candidate which the Townsendites had forced upon them, and they did it.

Then came the unexpected. At least unexpected by the Townsendites, Sheppard turned against Dr. Francis E. Townsend, refused to follow his leadership and eventually broke with the Townsend leader and attempted to help organize another organization which was designed to be competitive with the Townsend one, which had been instrumental in his election. There has resulted a bitter enmity on the part of the Townsendites toward the re-election of Congressman Sheppard.

The situation was right for the opposite play—that is, for a landslide of voters from the Democratic party to the Republican party who were Townsendites, with the purpose in view of using their balance of power to control the selection of a Republican party candidate in the coming August primary, and thus bring about the defeat of Sheppard. But the formation of the Townsend party now makes that impossible. How can the Republicans and the Townsendites accomplish the defeat of Sheppard? Only by a coalition of their voting forces in support of the same candidate on both tickets, and a uniting of these votes in the fall election. But will the Republican and Townsendites do this? That's the question everybody is asking.

BIG JOB AHEAD FOR HARDING IN NOVEMBER

WASHINGTON. — When it came as no great surprise to Californians that the Democratic congressional campaign committee should place on the shoulders of Capt. Victor Hunt Harding a large part of the task of seeing that the nation's voters return a big percentage of Democrats to house this fall.

As the committee's new executive secretary it will actually be the job of this Palo Alto neighbor of former President Hoover to lay most of the foundation for the coming congressional campaigns. It will be Harding, for instance, who surveys the situation in each of the 435 congressional districts and determines where and how money and speakers should be deployed by the committee in the New Deal effort to preserve its big house majority.

A FEW EXCERPTS

Here are a few excerpts from his biography:

Descendant of seven generations of New York state Democratic leaders; sometime instructor in political science at Stanford, U. C. at Los Angeles and Villanova colleges; confidential secretary to Representative McGrath (D. San Mateo) since 1932; member Onondaga county, N. Y., Democratic county committee, 1908-15; member California State Democratic committee, 1923-38; on original committee organizing national young Democrats, 1932; speakers bureau Democratic national committee, 1928-38.

CAUGHT NAPPING

The speedy way the senate has of doing business once it makes up its mind caught another former secretary of the treasury napping the other day.

Whereas it was Senator Glass (D. Va.) who arose the week before to suggest a vote on a billion dollar appropriation bill 15 minutes after it had been passed, this time it was California's own Senator McAdoo who went asleep at the switch.

Nearly an hour after the senate had done what the senator was proposing, McAdoo notified Majority Leader Barkley (D. Ky.) that he wanted a resolution he was sponsoring referred to the senate commerce committee.

As they had the incident involving Glass, senators tittered when Barkley informed the Californian that his resolution "went there some 45 minutes ago."

Postoffice Waits On Ancient Indian Deed to Property

CHARLESTON, Miss. (AP) — Plans for this city's new postoffice were delayed while a search was made for an 1834 deed by which Greenwood LeFlore, Indian chief, transferred the site to Allen Jenkins.

LeFlore had obtained the land a little earlier from the Choctaw Indians at the treaty of Dancing Rabbit creek, the old records indicate.

The present owner said the government was ready to close out for the site and start work on the postoffice as soon as the old deed was located.

Silver Mining Boom in Nevada

AUSTIN, Nev. (AP) — The Austin Silver Mining Company preparing to mine a large tonnage of good ore above the old slope of the Snyder segment on the Whittlatch vein, is continuing the cleaning out of workings beyond the 143-foot level of the Camargo shaft.

Several mining men, meantime, have taken lease on property owned by the company.

Adult Education

Mrs. Sooy, who was unable to reach Santa Ana for her March 3 meeting, will be here Thursday, March 17. This will be her last lecture in the series on costume design. Bring a friend with you. The meeting will be held in the Willard auditorium.

T. H. Glenn will lecture Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Willard auditorium on Scotland and Ireland. Motion pictures, furnished by Mrs. Julia Ann Hyde will be shown. Glenn's lecture on Switzerland and Austria, which was scheduled for the 15th, will be given one week later, March 22.

Class contributions to the junior college student loan and our own student body funds amount to $35.32. Because of the heavy rains, the original announcement did not reach the usual number of people and they were unprepared to contribute last week. Opportunity will be given again this week to help in this worthy cause.

The lip reading class is having an interesting contest this Tuesday. More about it next week. They have also had a contest on attendance that has worked like a charm.

The metal craft class of the evening high school has a lovely display in showcase No. 4 of the Willard school. This will be removed Thursday and a display will be put in by the art craft and pottery classes.

Mr. Perry's Wednesday book-keeping class is divided into two groups. For the first hour particular attention is given to beginning students. This group is just now concerned with trial balances. The advanced group are those who started last September. Many of this group are already employed as bookkeepers.

"Attention, all who are interested in shorthand. Our objective is to make good stenographers in a year's time. We are going places. We are working for a definite goal, a practical goal. More people should take advantage of this opportunity. Mr. Perry, our instructor, is competent." (Sue Parsons, shorthand class.)

Julia Ann Hyde was a guest at the geography class last Thursday night. She showed most interesting pictures and told something of her recent trip to Mexico. She has promised to return again with another set of pictures very soon.

Monday, Feb. 21, is the last opportunity to hear Dr. Claud A. Buss. It is the unanimous opinion of all who have heard him that this series is one of the best that has come to Santa Ana. He has already discussed the internal situations of China and Japan.

Minnesota Leads In Cooperatives

ST. PAUL, (AP) — Minnesota has 1999 cooperative organizations, the largest number of any state, a University of Minnesota agricultural college survey shows.

Creameries lead the list with 642. There are 359 shipping associations, 315 elevators, 194 oil associations, 121 stores, 163 credit unions, 72 potato and produce shipping associations and 34 cheese factories.

Sacred Ropes Sent Chinese

TOKYO. — Six hundred sacred straw ropes have been dispatched for the troops in China for the purpose of stimulating their morale. They will be hung at the gates of towns and barracks. The ropes are made of straw from the rice fields near the Grand Shrine of Ise, which is devoted to the memory of the imperial ancestors.

SENATOR WESTOVER GIVES FIRST-HAND REPORT OF SPECIAL SESSION

UNNECESSARY,
UNDESIRABLE,
IS CONSENSUSGovernor Bit Dubious
On Meaning of 'Right'

(Editor's Note: This is the first installment of an informative article on the special session of the legislature by a man who took active part in it.)

By SEN. HARRY C. WESTOVER
So many people have asked me during the past few days about the special session of the legislature, which has just adjourned, that I am taking this means of giving to them, some high lights of the recent special session.

In looking over dispatches from Sacramento, during the session, I find that information given about what took place, is very meager. I feel that the voters of Orange county are entitled to know something of what went on at the special session.

The consensus of opinion among the legislators was, that the special session was both unnecessary and undesirable. This feeling found expression on numerous occasions by both Democratic and Republican members. An extraordinary session of the legislature is supposed to be called to take care of only unusual or extraordinary legislation.

EXTRA SESSION DOUBTED

All of the items included in the call by the governor could have very well gone over to the regular session of the legislature in January, with the possible exception of two items, that is, the oil measure and the housing bills. The housing bills passed the regular session of the legislature and went to the governor's office, where they were vetoed.

In discussing legislation at the beginning of the special session, the governor explained his veto by saying that at the time the bills were before him, that conditions were not "right" for his signature, but that since the adjournment of the legislature, conditions became "right."

WHAT "RIGHT" MEANS?

Just what the governor meant by the use of the term "right," the legislature was never informed. The bills were submitted to the legislature in exactly the same form as they had been passed at the regular session. With minor changes the four housing bills were again passed by the legislature and have gone to the governor for signature and there is no doubt that they will be signed.

In calling a special session of the legislature, the governor in his call must designate the matters to be considered by the legislature and the legislature is only supposed to consider the matters so designated.

However, during the special session, the governor obtained an opinion to the effect, that his call could be amended or supplemented.

I Just
Found OutTwo-Bits
Buys
1000
Strokes—BY MILLARD
BROWNE

Two-bits will buy you 20 minutes worth of the choicest gossip and 1000-odd deft strokes from a straight razor in any of 52 Santa Ana barber shops. And if you don't get your share of both commodities it's probably because you either are stand-offish or have "peach-fuzz" for a beard.

Barbers take from 300 to 1500 strokes to shave a man, depending on the barber, the patron's beard, and whether the demand is for a once-over-light shave.

The 52 shops, 46 of which display union cards, employ nearly 100 barbers, and they're all clearing-houses for local sentiment and gossip. Centrally-located barber shops, in fact, are the first places visited by politicians and outsiders who want to sound out local conditions.

Majority of barbers give about three haircuts to every shave, though some downtown shops have about a 50-50 business, spend most of the morning on shaves, concentrate on haircutting during the afternoon.

Haircut patrons are divided into four classes: The once-a-week men, those who come in every 10 days or two weeks, the three-weeks-to-a-month customers, and the few stragglers with whom haircutting is a seasonal proposition.

Length of time between haircuts isn't particularly a question of economics, barbers point out, since some of the shaggiest patrons are the wealthiest. "Scotch" haircuts (convict clips, as they once were called) aren't necessarily a sign of thriftiness or poverty, either, since men who wear their hair short usually have it trimmed about as often as the others. Paid customers also have their "hair" cut as regularly as their bushy-headed fellowmen.

Local barbers all work on a percentage basis, the union journeymen barbers (those who work in a master barber's shop) getting 70 per cent of everything they take in. Master barbers get the other 30 per cent to pay the rent and pay for upkeep on equipment.

Every barber owns his own tools, though he uses the shopkeeper's linen, sterilizer, electric shaver, and other odds and ends.

To get a license, a prospective haircutter must go to barbers' school for six months, take an apprenticeship examination, serve as an apprentice under some master barber for a year and a half, then pass another examination.

The examination's no cinch, either. Consists of a practical part where the barber must perform a shave and haircut before a three-man board, and a 90-question written examination on anatomy of the head and face and other points learned in barbers' school.

ROAD OPENING
CELEBRATION
PROGRAM SET

Governor Frank Merriam and other state officials will attend the official opening ceremonies at Oceanside and San Clemente, March 26, in celebration of completion of a three and four lane road along Highway 101 and its alternate between Gaviota pass and Carlsbad.

Festivities will begin on that day with a luncheon at noon in the California Carlsbad hotel with Leo Carrillo as master of ceremonies. Prominent guests at the affair will be Governor Merriam, Earl Lee Kelly, director of the public highway commission, Commissioner Phil Stanton of Orange county and others.

PAGEANT SCHEDULED

Following the booster banquet, the group will adjourn to the Oceanside bandstand at a d'ium where they will witness a half hour pageant entitled "The Romance of El Camino Road." State and county officials are to take part in the production.

At 4 o'clock, Miss Dorothy Walker, of San Clemente, as Miss Orange County and Miss Norma Ellis of Carlsbad, as Miss San Diego County, will take part in a ribbon uniting ceremony, emblematic of joining the two counties by a three and four lane, modern highway.

JOINT SPONSORS

That evening, at the San Clemente casino, a ball will be held in honor of the occasion.

The chambers of commerce in Oceanside and San Clemente are jointly sponsoring the celebration. Judge Fred S. Warner of San Clemente is chairman of the ball committee and Commissioner W. T. Hart is in charge of the reception activities. A member of the Orange county board of supervisors will be one of the honored guests.

The San Clemente chamber of commerce is inviting representatives from the various chambers of commerce and other such organizations to participate.

In each shop, though there now are only three apprentices in town. More than a third of the local union's 80 members are over 50 years of age.

Barbers are closely scrutinized by the state board of barber examiners, which has almost dictatorial power to close a shop if it doesn't come up to sanitary standards, which are stringent and all-inclusive. One of them, for instance, says a barber shop must be solidly partitioned off from any other business except a beauty shop. That's why shine parlors always are outside the barber shop itself.

Barbers are allowed to do anything a beautician can do except give a beautician wave or a manicure; beauticians' licenses, on the other hand, forbid operators to shave a man, but let them do any other part of a barber's work.

During depression, barbers' weekly wage throughout the state averaged less than $10. It's come up some, but the financial margin for some of them still is rather skimpy. Biggest nuisances to them, consequently, are their various licenses, which include $4 a year per chair for a state license, $2 a year for each barber and $1 a year for each shop for the privilege of doing business.

Majority of customers are highly particular about haircuts, have their own ideas (or their wives' ideas) about how it should be done. Most part their hair on the left, and they're invariably in a hurry when they get in a barber's chair.

Toughest job for a barber: Trimming a "cute little mustache."

9 STEEL GATES
AT PARKER DAM

Five giant steel gates, each one as big as the face of a four-story office building, and each gate weighing more than 600,000 pounds, are now being installed along the crest of Parker dam, according to construction reports received yesterday in the office of F. E. Weymouth, general manager of the Metropolitan Water district.

Santa Ana is one of the 13 Southern California cities that will receive water from this project.

Built to control the Colorado river as it flows over Parker dam, the huge gates are each 50 feet high and 50 feet wide, and are among the largest that have ever been fabricated. As a part of the structure of the dam, the gates will slide up and down and will allow excess water in the Parker reservoir to be released into the river below the dam.

It is expected the project will be completed next year.

FIFTIETH YEAR
FOR CHAMBER
GETS IMPETUS

Next fall, the chamber of commerce will celebrate the fiftieth year of its founding during ceremonies which will be planned at a committee meeting next week.

The organization started in 1888 as the Orange county board of trade. On March 13, 1893, at the annual meeting held in Mosbaugh's hall, the name was changed to the Orange county chamber of commerce.

E. E. Keesch suggested it should be called the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. But W. S. Taylor and a Mr. Fairbanks, believed that Orange county as a prefix would interest more persons from all parts of the county. Taylor and Fairbanks were evidently better salesmen, as the group present promptly agreed to call it the Orange county chamber of commerce.

Several years later, however, the name was changed to the one it now bears.

Officers elected to the chamber in 1893 were as follows: John McFadden, president; J. W. Ballard, vice-president; W. S. Taylor, secretary and L. Bell, treasurer.

The directorate was composed of Frank Ey, H. A. Peabody, B. G. Bascom, F. P. Nickey and H. H. Roper, all of Santa Ana, and G. J. Mosbaugh of Orange, and E. D. Buss of Tustin.

LEGG SPEAKER
AT ASSEMBLY

Herbert Legg will address members of the Orange County Assembly of Democrats next Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Orange Woman's club house. Mrs. Claudia Worswick announced today.

The program is a continuation of the policy by the organization of inviting all Democratic candidates to the governorship to speak before Democrats of this area.

Proceeding the talk, dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock in the woman's club at 75 cents a plate. Mrs. Worswick says those wishing to attend the supper should make reservations through her or by phoning Joe Peterson in Orange.

CITRUS LEAGUE
AT ORANGE FETE

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP) — Noted authorities on problems vital to the citrus industry will be speakers before the California Citrus institute here March 22. The institute will be held in conjunction with the National Orange show.

C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, one of the speakers, will deliver an address on "Marketing Problems Affecting the Citrus Outlook."

Mrs. Nisson Leaves
$40,000 Estate

The will of the late Charlotte L. Nisson, leaving property worth $40,000 to a son and a daughter, was presented today for probate in superior court.

Mrs. Nisson died March 4, leaving an Orange county ranch, real estate and personal property to Clarence Arthur Nisson of Tustin and Estelle G. Dunlap of San Francisco, according to terms of a will dated Jan. 30, 1934. The son and daughter are named executors.

Santa Ana Girl Writes Song Number

Dorothy Mayhew has composed a popular song number in "The Cruising Troubadour" which was recognized by Lee Mann, director of the Sunny Californians, as suitable to orchestration. Mann's pianist, Ray Raymon made the arrangement. Mann introduced the number last night at the Policemen's ball in Valencia ballroom. Miss Mayhew is the composer of several Spanish numbers also.

REACH FOR ROLL OF ADHESIVE
TAPE NO MATTER WHAT HAPPENS

Do your rugs slip on highly polished floors? Do the baby's rubber pants need vulcanizing? Have you suddenly run out of bait while fishing?

Reach for a roll of adhesive tape.

Dr. Paul F. Ziegler, Chicago industrial chemist, has completed a survey of adhesive plaster. He found 1043 purposes to which it is put outside of its common function as a surgical dressing.

Here are some of the oddest uses to which Dr. Ziegler found adhesive plaster is being put: To label newborn babies. To hold wigs and toupees in place. To hold up men's socks when garters disappear. To repair a worn action on a piano.

To tape back protruding ears to train them from sticking out. To hold a cow's tail out of the milker's face. To hold on a sprinter's shoes in a foot race.

To patch an inner tube. To put on children's thumbs to stop sucking. To repair corsets and girdles in emergency. Some fishermen, Dr. Ziegler

Seal Beach Bond
Election, April 12

SEAL BEACH. (AP)—April 12 has been set as the date for an election on a $101,500 bond issue for the construction of a new pier here.

The new pier would replace an old wooden one, erected in 1916, and which has been declared unsafe for several years.

WORLD-FAMOUS
CONDUCTOR TO LEAD CONCERT

At 8:30 p. m. next Thursday one of the world's famous conductors will rap for attention before a Santa Ana audience.

He is Dr. Modest Altschuler, pioneer in Russian music, former director of scores of the nation's leading symphony orchestras. He will direct the 50-piece Federal symphony, augmented by musicians from Los Angeles, Hollywood and the Santa Ana symphony, in one of the outstanding concerts of the year in Santa Ana.

Opening number will be Slavonic "Polonaise," by Bebeck. It will be followed by Vassily Kalkinikow's "Symphony No. 1 in G Minor." His symphony was first conducted by Altschuler in New York, during the 1903 season. It is composed in classical form, and sprinkled with little-known folk songs.

Program files of the nation's leading orchestras disclosed today that Dr. Altschuler also is credited with first American performance of compositions by Glazounoff, Stravinsky, Scriabin and Tchaikowsky. He also was among the first to recognize the genius of Finland's gloomy Sibelius.

Tchaikowsky's "Andante Cantabile" for strings will be featured with Rubenstein's "Dance" from the opera Der Dams. "Overture to Oberon" by Weber is on the list.

Roxana Byers, pupil of Cortot, and one-time director of the Honolulu Conservatory of Music, will be guest artist.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at the Federal Music project headquarters, 431 West Third street, Santa Ana. Supervisor Leon Eckles said today.

Dr. Magill Is Incentive For Tea

Five charming hostesses, one for each five-year period of her commendable career, united to honor Dr. Peryl Magill yesterday afternoon when they gave a formal tea to celebrate the quarter-century anniversary of her practice. Mrs. Andrew Lykke, Miss Louise Tubbs, Mrs. M. A. Patton, Miss Julia Magill and Mrs. W. O. Hart formed the quintet who planned the lovely affair, receiving between 75 and 100 guests in the spacious new home of Mrs. Lykke at Panorama Heights.

Dr. Magill, beloved all over Orange county, has led a most interesting life, having kept an office in Santa Ana during most of the 25 years, but having interpolated in that career 14 months of practice in Honolulu, a year in the Orient (both Japan and China) and three years in Europe with offices in Paris and in Monte Carlo.

The receiving line was a pretty sight, with Mrs. Lykke in handsome black, Dr. Magill in duobonnet georgette with silver jacket, Miss Tubbs in pale pink georgette with black accents, Mrs. Patton in becoming blue, Miss Magill in embroidered blue georgette and Mrs. Hart in embroidered black hostess frock. Lovely flowers were worn by each.

As guests made their way to the tea table they saw dozens of bowls and baskets of every sort of spring blossom, with one striking crystal basket of shamrocks. On the table itself was a beautiful bowl of white stock and nearby were exquisite pink roses.

Miss Tubbs was dining room hostess and the table was presided over by Dr. Hester Olewiler. Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. W. W. Hilsley and Mrs. H. H. Reeves.

A delightful feature of the afternoon was the charming music heard when Mrs. Jackson Scott of Fullerton sang several groups of solos, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Nelson, also of Fullerton.

TUSTIN FACULTY HAS PLEASANT DINNER

A delightful dinner party was given Tuesday evening of this week by faculty members of Tustin High school, who entertained faculty of Tustin grammar and primary schools at a St. Patrick's affair in the high school cafeteria. A lively program was carried out during dinner and later in the evening, with skits and games. Mrs. Rena Bouchard sang two charming solos, accompanied by Mrs. V. L. Humeston, and Mr. and Mrs. Humeston sang a duet. Grammar school members attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dawson, Mary Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. George Gaylord, Marie Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harwood, Cora Thompson, Amanda Bartlein, Irene Catalani, Mr. and Mrs. J. Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lindsey, Eileen McCollum, Mildred Morrow, Viola Newell, Eleanor Palmer, Lucy Royce, Myrtle Shallenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Windolph, and Rena Bouchard.

High school members present were Mr. J. W. Means, May Rose Borum, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Brisco, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Byrne, Elsie Daly, Emma B. Field, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Humeston, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Florence, Lindblom, Mary McVey, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Northup, Esther Ramacher, Lucia Yocum and Clarence Bowman.

CLUB POETS INDULGE IN PARTY

Second benefit party of the season was enjoyed by Poetry section of Santa Ana Woman's club when they gathered Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Minnie Collins, 210 East Santa Clara street, for a dessert bridge.

Shamrocks and sweet peas centered the six small tables at which the refreshments were served, with the St. Patrick motif dominant. Hostesses for the afternoon were the Mesdames E. G. Warner, Minnie Collins and J. E. Braden.

Lovely potted shamrock and succulents were the prizes of the afternoon and were awarded to Mrs. L. E. Tarbox for high score at auction, to Mrs. A. C. Keck for excellence at anagrams, and to Mrs. C. A. Warren for high score at contract. Traveling prize after belonging to several present for short periods during the afternoon finally arrived at Mrs. Anne Allen's table where it remained, and she took it home with her.

GIBSON GIRL SAILOR

Here is something different in spring hats—a wide, flat-crowned sailor reminiscent of the Gibson Girl. Howard Hodge designs it of burnt Tuscan straw, bands it in black ribbon and then loops it up in a sheer black veil—gay-nineties fashion.

MRS. CONNELLY IS HONORED AT PARTY

Complimenting Mrs. Leroy Connelly, of Tustin, was a layette shower given Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. C. F. Martin, West Main street, Tustin, with Mesdames Martin, Nora Lange and Alberta Lettrel as the hostesses. Decorations carried out a pink and white color theme.

The game of "Fiddle Sticks" was played and many lovely gifts were presented to the happy honoree. The hostesses served a dainty refreshment course.

Those present were the honor guest, Mrs. Connelly, her mother, Mrs. E. E. Elton, the three hostesses and Mesdames Louise Sheldon, of Costa Mesa; Effie M. Crawford, William A. Hazen, D. L. Thomas, J. A. Haskell, Frank Greenwood, Mary Greenwood, Edith Phillips, John Stanton, T. Whitney, Mabel Francis, Grace Leinberger, Vincent Humeston, B. E. Beswick, Esther Suddaby, of Tustin; Mesdames Ida Walker, Bernadine Williams, Harry Brockbank and Miss Elsie Pyatt, of Santa Ana.

MOTHERS OF DE MOLAY WILL ASSIST

De Molay mothers served an enjoyable refreshment course to their sons when the boys' organization met this week at Masonic temple. Mothers are planning to serve a noon luncheon to all civic officials who are to be assisted during "Civic Day" by the De Molays, next Monday and completed plans for the undertaking at a later business session.

On the night's committee were the Mesdames Glenn Lycan, Bradley Smith, G. A. Warren, Herbert Allemen, and Clyde Fies.

It was announced that this coming Sunday is "Devotional Sunday," and mothers and sons are to meet at the temple at 10:15 a. m. in order to attend First Presbyterian services in a body.

CIRCLE IN LUNCH MEET

Mothers' Circle of Job's Daughters was entertained at the home of Mrs. E. U. Farmer, 1221 South Parton street, yesterday afternoon at a covered dish luncheon and business meeting conducted by the hostess, Mrs. Farmer, who is circle president.

Present for the pleasant afternoon affair were the Mesdames Sam Butler, Guy Christian, William Dean, Francis Eckles, Plummer Bruns, Tom Lacey, Eugene McBurney, Harry Crowe, Roland Rossetol, Alice Christian and E. H. Horseman.

Fashion Show Models Are Named

Stressing the fact that there may be cancellations of table reservations at the last minute, thus providing an opportunity for latecomers to attend, Mrs. Harold Dale and her committee heads are completing details of tomorrow's spring fashion show and bridge party that is being given by Junior Ebell to raise funds for the junior college student loan fund.

The affair will begin with dessert at the clubhouse at half-past one, and at three o'clock bridge will come to an end for the fashion parade. The auditorium adjoining the Peacock room will be thrown open at this time, and those not wishing to participate in the card games may attend the style show for half-price admission.

Mrs. Crawford Nalle announced today that the smart frocks from Scouler's, footgear from Peterson's and furs from Olive Duling's would be modeled by the following Junior and Senior Ebell members: Mrs. Manley Nelson, Mrs. William Jeffrey, Mrs. Ralph White, Miss Ruth Fitz, Miss Gwen Griffin, Mrs. Robert Guild, Mrs. Howard Rapp, Miss Janet Diehl, Mrs. Thomas Rhone, Miss Lorraine Thurlow, Mrs. Milton Poppett, Mrs. Edwin T. McFadden, Mrs. Clarence Ranney and Mrs. Ella June La Fiere.

A novel feature this year will be the soft swing music to be played by five members of Lee Mann's orchestra, while the fashion parade is going on.

PHILATHEA ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Philathea class of First Presbyterian church held their last party of the year last night at the home of Mrs. Hiram Currey, 2120 North Ross street, when they elected new officers and spent the evening chatting and sewing.

About 50 members of the class were present to partake of the refreshments served at the opening of the meeting from a table decorated in the St. Patrick motif. A hand of whist was set on a large green paper shamrock on the table.

Mrs. Glenn Tidball was re-elected president and her staff of officers for the coming year are Miss Doris Schenck, first vice president; Mrs. Sidney Kimball, second vice president; Mrs. Wayne Tibbs, secretary; Mrs. C. B. Stockton, treasurer; and Mrs. Henrietta Richards, corresponding secretary.

Hostesses on the committee for last night's social included Miss Doris Schenck, chairman, and the Mesdames Hiram Currey, Hazel Diley, Julia Knudson, Charles Milner and Lilly Osborne.

EBELL GARDEN GROUP MEETS

Planning to devote next month's meeting day to a field trip at the famous Pasadena wisteria gardens, Ebells Garden group met yesterday at the clubhouse for its monthly luncheon.

Hostesses were Mrs. G. R. Neilson, Mrs. D. A. Harwood, Mrs. E. A. Watson and Mrs. George Raymer, and featured speaker of the day was Ted Blanding, who gave an interesting talk on outdoor living-rooms.

A delightful feature of the day was a drive to the Tustin gardens of Mrs. E. A. Watson, now abloom with myriads of spring flowers, with particularly lovely camellias and azaleas.

Dinner Dance Enjoyed By Group

Dining and dancing in beautiful Pacific Coast club occupied well over 100 prominent Santa Anans last evening when Kiwanis club members and their ladies enjoyed a formal affair there.

In the receiving line to greet guests as they arrived were President Maurice Enderle and Mrs. Enderle, the latter wearing a graceful gown of soft green chiffon. Assisting them were the committee members of the evening with their wives, including Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Paterson, Dr. and Mrs. Milo Tedstrom, Dr. and Mrs. John L. Wehrly and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hall.

Mrs. Price wore a lovely frock of rose taffeta, while Mrs. Paterson was in black satin with a metal cloth jacket. Little Mrs. Tedstrom was in delicate peach chiffon over blue. Mrs. Hall was in an attractive gown of black and pink chiffon, and Mrs. Wehrly's brunet beauty was set off by a frock of yellow taffeta.

The group was seated at small tables, each being centered with a bouquet of tulips and hyacinths in varying hues. Smart adaptations of the shamrock motif on walls and ceiling carried out the St. Patrick's holiday theme.

After dinner, during which King Evans' orchestra played occasionally, the group divided half to play bridge and half to dance. Earlier, however, they had enjoyed a group of charming soprano solos by Miss Margaret Elmer, youthful Santa Ana songstress, whose lovely voice recently won her an N. P. C. contract. She was accompanied by Miss Margaret Davies.

Also on the program was Willard Bassett, who frequently entertains Kiwanians with his fine voice, and who was accompanied by Arthur Cannon.

Additional pleasure was experienced later in the evening during the card play, when several of the members provided an extemporaneous musical program after Mr. Cannon had gone to the organ. Jerry Hall, Marquis Hare and Willard Bassett each delighted their listeners with familiar ballads and airs.

High score prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hawk and Senator and Mrs. Harry Westover.

The string trio from the junior college composed of Kenneth Aiken, violinist, George Lightart, cellist and Miss Edna Walker, pianist, played several selections. Miss Margery Rawlings, daughter of Mrs. Utt, sang two solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John Matson. Stanley Kurtz sang a group of songs while his wife accompanied him at the piano.

Committee of three hostesses for the successful affair were the Mesdames L. B. Stearns, J. L. Marshall and W. W. Tantlinger, who were assisted by other members of the P.-T. A.

Mrs. B. J. McReynolds and Mrs. Henry Pankey poured at the refreshment table in the dining room which was attractively decorated with a centerpiece of jonquils, green candles in crystal holders and colorful napkins.

Mary Stoddard If We Defy Protective Rules and Meet Grief, We're Wrong

Can we defy Dame Convention, even in this day of ultra-modernism, without eventually reaping the whirlwind?

Recently I stated through these columns that we cannot scorn convention without having it return as a boomerang. A man who signed himself "Experience" took me to task in a kindly manner, saying I was one of the victims of hypocrisy.

Today one of our old correspondents finds the topic interesting comment. Dear Miss Stoddard: Why is it, that they are loudest in denouncing convention who get into trouble or tragedy by defying convention? While millions enjoy the convention of marriage, only an occasional voice or group or cult is raised against it. Since we back most of our decisions on the question "what will I get out of it?" we find accepted standards pretty generally guarantee us security. These standards are in no wise arbitrary. They build up solidity, beginning with basic instincts added to by centuries of experience and experiment, living principles of conduct and result of "conduct." The guide safely the weak, who cannot guide themselves or bear bravely mistakes of their weakness.

Blue's letter did not infer a secret marriage as Experience hinted. It appeared to be one of the usual affairs, hemmed about by lies to parents involved, who would have to endure later the burden of the young people, misguided by emotions against which only strong self-discipline or rigid guidance could carry them past danger of wreckage for life.

Experience at no time says, "I was wrong—I made a mistake." Only that convention alone is to blame for all illicit affairs. Defying convention, he now condemns convention, which is, after all, the confirmatory vote of the individual to accept a standard. And, why "Dame Convention," since as recently as the world war woman had no voice about what she might do in personal relationships. She was dictated to by father, brother or husband, even as to whom she might associate with openly. Secret association was unthinkable. It was during the war that women, an, literally, between their skirts and jumped the hurdles in defiance of man-made rulings for her control. Even this late he still raises his voice loudly in resentment against this breakdown of his dictatorship.

It is a pretty well grounded theory that a person who is inclined to kick over the traces in defiance of guidance is more rigidly demanding of others. Headstrong people are unbalanced in degree, and cannot be depended upon to lead more advisedly than they follow. Once the bit is between their teeth, they run wild. When curbed and quieted down, they are no longer trustworthy, or at least no longer trusted.

Even Hester, of "The Scarlet Letter," whom Experience brings in to prove his point, was a victim of man-convention. The fact that the Puritan convention was the more positive outwardly than our present day convention does not alter the sureness of punishment for sin committed. The Puritans, bursting bonds of religious oppression, fled to this country for freedom to worship as they chose. Once here—being the sort of people who were bond-breakers—they clamped down on the freedom of others to live in opposition to the Puritan dictation. And in this oppression the dame had no word.

Is there a vast difference between a man who shoots his wife and a woman who shoots her husband, for infidelity? Is any man's attitude toward the conduct of his mother, wife or daughter any less rigid than a woman's should be? How far can any one go beyond the standards of his community, without courting trouble? How far do we permit others to break the conventions we set up? SAPPPO.

mingled with green fern and green tapers. Bridge was played during the evening with Mrs. Max Gody and John Bruns winning high prizes for women and men, respectively.

Four Couples Receive At Comus

A good crowd and fine music played by Lacey Swain's orchestra created the proper atmosphere for an enjoyable dance last night when Comus club met for its monthly dancing party at the American Legion hall in Orange. # RAYBURN FEARS FOR SAFETY OF HEMISPHERE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Democratic Leader Rayburn told the house he feared foreign countries were trying to "get a foothold" in the western hemisphere.

The stocky Texan took the floor to close debate on the administration's billion dollar naval expansion program and predicted its passage "by an overwhelming majority."

Rayburn said he supported the bill in its entirety because he believed the "one great safeguard against war is to let the world know we are prepared to defend ourselves."

"Do you believe Hitler would be in Austria today?" he asked, "if Austria had had the men and equipment to have challenged his entry?"

SEES BIGGER ARMAMENT
The majority leader said he would be happy if congress were not called upon by next January to vote an even bigger armament program.

Endorsing the views expressed by representative Wadsworth (R, N. Y.) who said the pressure of European populations eventually would reach the western hemisphere, the Texan shouted:

"Some countries outside the western hemisphere would like to, and I fear are trying now to get a foothold in this western hemisphere. We cannot hide our heads in the sand. We cannot afford not to look the facts in the face."

OVERWHELMING EVIDENCE
Earlier, Representative Brewster (R, Me.) leader of the bill's foes, asserted there was "overwhelming evidence" that no nation on earth could expect to successfully attack the United States in this hemisphere.

"Our defenses are not going to be strengthened by paper battleships," he shouted, "contending the bill would provide only blueprints for some years."

SCRIPPS SAVANT ON OCEAN LIFE

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Life in the ocean shows tendencies to follow cycles already fairly well known to man, says W. E. Allen, who is making a study of "Ocean Pasture" at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

"It is easy to see that many different kinds of cycles affect lives and conditions of living on land," said Allen. "It may not be so easy to see that this is also true of conditions in the ocean, although, as a matter of fact, some of the periodic influences, such as seasons, cause results much like those on land."

Outside the tropic zone, said Allen, oceanic animals and plants must regulate their lives and activities so as to fit seasonal changes of temperature and other influences in much the same way that land dwellers must do so."

Composite Car Wins Owner Damages To 'New Amrad' Model

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Paul N. Zimmerman, 30, of Williamsville, had a $76.20 court verdict in his favor today for a collision that involved his 1925-1933 "Amrad" car.

A jury awarded Zimmerman the verdict after hearing him give such an involved explanation of the origin of his "Amrad" that even his own attorney was puzzled. Zimmerman told the court his car started as a 1925 Chevrolet but he installed a 1934 Chrysler motor, a 1935 Plymouth driveshaft, a 1934 Chevrolet frame, a 1929 DeSoto body, a 1929 Stutz radiator and Auburn brakes. Then he added the name plate "Amrad."

"It would do 80 easy judge," Zimmerman asserted.

"I'm still puzzled about one thing," Judge Joseph J. Kelly said. "What did the 'Amrad' stand for?"

"American Radiator hot water boiler," Zimmerman replied.

RED AND WHITE HELPS GROCER

One of the most popular members of the Red and White organization in Santa Ana is P. A. Gettle, who operates the Red and White store at 510 Bush street, in the Arcade building. A charter member of the organization, Gettle started in the grocery business here 16 years ago. One of the main reasons for the steady increase in his business, according to Gettle, is his membership in the Red and White group. Through his affiliation with it he is enabled to make improvements in his marketing from time to time, he is also able to make substantial savings which he passes along to his customers in the form of lower prices.

Assisted by Mrs. Gettle, the owner of the downtown market gives a personalized service, ever willing to make helpful suggestions regarding menu planning. A large selection of all types of groceries, a fresh fruit and vegetable stand equipped with an air-conditioning rack to keep the produce fresh and crisp at all times, a candy and soda department replete with all popular brands augmented by a speedy delivery, make up a service that is "second to none," according to Gettle.

School Officials Hear Educator

Santa Ana school principals heard a discussion of public forerunners of education, Washington, D. C., in danger's case last night. Superintendent Frank Henderson, accompanied by local adult education leaders from this city, had previously been present at an all-day conference with Sheets in Los Angeles. Present at this affair also was Dr. George Mann, state director of adult education, who had called the session there.

2000 BRIDGES SEEN AS UNSAFE WITHIN STATE

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—There are over 2000 bridges on the state highway system, in daily use, that are either weak, narrow and should be condemned, A. Everett Smith, assistant highway engineer, said recently.

Smith asserted that during the past several years large trucks have been using the state highways, several bridges have collapsed or have been damaged to the extent they need immediate repair.

The more serious accidents have occurred in connection with through truss bridges or narrow roadway width.

Smith said that these bridges are designed to stand only a vertical load and cannot stand a great force in a horizontal direction.

The engineer warned that unless proper precautions are taken when crossing the old type bridge the side supports may be struck in such a way as to cause the span to collapse.

High School Notes

By MARGARET SCHMITZ

Next week has been declared Citizenship Week for high school students. Each day will have a different phase of good citizenship as its theme.

Monday will feature "Cooperation" as its main idea. This means cooperation with teachers, student officers, and with fellow students. Tuesday emphasizes "Honesty." On Wednesday "Consideration" will be the theme. Thursday is called "Service Day." Friday stressing "Participation" will probably be the most important day of all. It also combines the traditional Color Day, the day on which students wear school colors of red and white, sign Hello Day cards, wear yarn dolls, and, in general, show school spirit.

A triangle track meet between Pomona Chaffey, and Santa Ana has been scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Robert Farrar and T. P. McKee cooperated with Jackie Morrison and Hugh Lowe of the board of control in planning the events of Citizenship Week.

THE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Here and There With Southern California Artists

By DONALD BUTTON

Why culture?
What is culture?
Where is culture?

"Culture" is a term I (among others) have been throwing to the winds of late.

So it was that recently Theodosia Ingham Gould, who states she has no opinions and turns right around to say what she likes or dislikes (which I value), hurled those three questions at me, and brought me to a reconsideration of the term.

Seriously, though, why is it that we need fine concerts, great pictures, good dancing and better verse?

Why are we not content with nursery rhymes, mountain music, the comics? Why is it that some of us (at least) want those better things?

Does the "desire to keep up with the Smiths" totally cover symphony seasons, dance recitals, exhibitions?

Is there more to this so-called "cultural set-up" than merely the desire to sell something? Why, I ask, are we intent upon a culture?

Man is first of all concerned in combating the elements effectively.

Fire, food, clothing and shelter

3 KIDNAPERS FACE HANGING

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—West Virginia's gallows beckoned today to three convicted kidnapers, the first sentenced to be hanged in this state under a law passed after the abduction and death of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

The triple execution is scheduled for Monday but attorneys for Orville Adkins and John Travers announced they would appeal to Governor Holt for executive clemency. No move to save the life of 46-year-old Arnett A. Booth has been made.

The supreme court Monday denied the appeals of Adkins and Travers, both 25, from the death sentence imposed by the Cabell county court for abduction of Dr. James I. Seder, 79-year-old retired dry leader of Huntington, W. Va.

Warden C. M. Stone of state penitentiary here ordered the three moved today from murderer's row to the death house.

'Mr. X' Donates Tax to Uncle Sam

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—"Mr. X" came across with his second annual contribution of $15 in income tax to Uncle Sam today.

Walter J. Rothensies, collector of internal revenue, accepted the money, mailed by an anonymous Philadelphian, with the comment:

"I guess that's money due on a tax liability or on some illicit business the donor didn't care to disclose."

Edgar Spence, Manteca, San Joaquin county, has bought a sixty-two acre grain ranch which will be farmed by his brother from Missouri.

are his fundamentals requirements. When they are under his control, he seeks means with which to embellish them.

Fire is now in wires, food nearly reduced to pellets, clothing to paper, shelter to glass. Mechanization has eliminated much labor, given more leisure time.

It is toward the profitable (esthetically) employment of our leisure-time that we seek culture.

Somewhat the cinema, the honky-tonk dance halls, the pulp magazines do not satisfy. This cannot be our whole fare.

Comes, naturally, the question of who decides upon standards for that elusively-defined word "culture."

Webster's states it is "the training, or refinement, of mind, morals or taste."

From this redan, we should only be concerned with the refinement of taste.

Indication of the presence of culture in a community, I think, is to be found in the discussion of means to civic improvement, a concern with governmental methods.

It is present when there be individuals, or a group, interested in raising the standards of appreciation for the arts (in their various branches) within a community.

Culture is, for my purposes, refinement of taste.

Considerable thinking upon the subjects challenged by Mrs. Gould still leaves me in great doubt as to the authenticity of criteria, or standards, for determining upon a culture.

What was to the ancient Egyptians a very advanced culture does not, on the whole, appeal to us in the same way.

What five years ago seemed to us to be a satisfactory standard is group is rapidly being supplanted. Older concepts of government go even faster.

We change. We are in a state of flux.

I seriously doubt "culture is everywhere."

I hope it is gone from those places devoid of even relative beauty!

But, after three years of living and working in Santa Ana, I am more firmly convinced than ever that it has a chance to flower here.

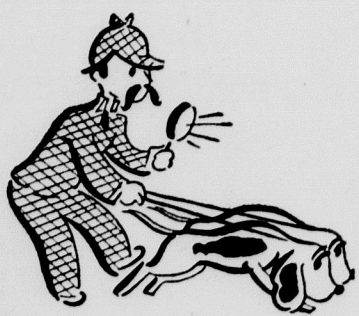

There are many things, many incidents to live down. It will take more than one sharp jab to rock the apathetic, grass-bound, and anemic thing we currently call our enthusiasm.

Pardon me for saying it, but culture is where you find it!

Those who look upon Santa Ana as a widening in the road have yet to dissuade me. I have not lost my enthusiasm, nor do I think it necessary to go about with a lantern in search of—culture.

Those who look to find the elusive term generalized upon herein will best find it Monday night when Myra Kinch and her group dance at the high school auditorium.

I need not dwell upon the worthy aspects of "the cause." I simply point toward what should be (Ted Cook will bear me out in this) a very enjoyable evening!

ARRESTED FOR HIS MUSIC

Music may have the charms to soothe the savage beast, but to Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton, one of President Abraham Lincoln's cabinet members, a certain tune had exactly the opposite effect.

The tune was "Give Us Back Our Old Commander," written by the eminent composer, Septimus Winner, author of "Listen to the Mocking Bird," during a visit to the nation's capital in 1862. A short time before Winner arrived in Washington, President

Lincoln had ordered the removal of George B. McClelland as Commander of the Union army of the Potomac. Popular sentiment did not favor this move, however, and everywhere on the streets was heard the cry: "Give us back our little Mac!"

Why Should the U.S. A. Arm?

The United States must arm strongly to protect itself from international lawlessness, warns Secretary of State Hull. The secretary is right.

Those pressure and political groups which are opposing a more adequate army and navy apparently do not realize that hell is breaking loose all over the world and may pop right into our own backyard next.

Germany has just absorbed Austria in a daring coup. Czechoslovakia lives in dread the Nazi troops may move against her next.

Poland is involved in a dispute with neighboring Lithuania.

Switzerland and Holland are increasing their defense forces.

The conflict in Spain shows no signs of abating, still menacing the peace of the rest of the continent.

Japan, defying the democratic powers in regard to her navy plans, continues to blast her way across China, expecting some day to hold the whip hand over Asia and half the population of the globe.

Russia has her dagger drawn for both Japan and the German-Italian entente.

Britain and France, hard-pressed by new menaces, are the last bulwarks of democracy in Europe.

In short, no one can tell where hell will run wild tomorrow.

Powerful nations, heavily armed, are out to grab all they can grab, with treaties and peace leagues meaning nothing.

Such is the background of Secretary Hull's warning that the United States must arm for protection.

His caution is wise and practical.

With heavily armed outlaw states roving the world, the only way we can be even reasonably sure of protecting ourselves is to be strong enough to make attack unprofitable.

"Nobody can turn us from our way!" roared Hitler at Vienna, which is what the Kaiser told the world some 20 years ago.

Build Better Bridges

The menace created by old-fashioned trestle-type bridges during flood waters is rightly rapped by the Orange county farm bureau.

Recent inundations have shown that trestle pilings catch debris, force waters to back up, and thus bring about flooding of adjacent lands.

This same fault also tends to bring about destruction of the bridge itself, since the accumulated power of the piled-up waters sometimes breaks down or damages the structure.

It takes only a trip to the recently devastated span on Santa Ana boulevard and at other sites to see the evidence.

Another point against most old bridges (and this applies to all, trestle-type or otherwise) is their inability to stand up under modern heavy truck traffic.

Antiquated bridges have collapsed across the San Joaquin, Sacramento and Pitt rivers in recent months under such loads.

Poor bridges are poor economy.

Far better to spend additional money for a sound, substantial structure that will permit floor water to flow with the least obstruction and will carry the weight of the big land freighters that transport so much of modern civilization's necessities.

When Orange county's bridges are reconstructed, governing agencies responsible should see to it that defects of the old spans are not included in the new.

At the bottom of the heap of protests is the good, old-fashioned League of Nations with its feeble peep.

Anaheim Launches Model Village

A salute to the Anaheim chamber of commerce for its proposal to build a model village in place of the slum district which housed Mexican families until the flood wiped those squalid homes out of existence.

Conditions were never more favorable for the accomplishment of this aim than they are today. There are two practical channels to achieve the goal, it seems.

First is through agency of the city and the Red Cross. If the city will acquire high land, the Red Cross will spend rehabilitation funds on the new site equal to those it would have spent on the old, relief officials have promised.

Second is by application of the federal low-cost housing act, which has just become available to California counties and cities through enabling legislation passed at the special session of the legislature.

It's genuine humanity and good economics to make better homes available for low wage groups of the population.

Well, we fought Austria to make her democracy safe, and now look at her!

Subclinically Intoxicated

After exhaustive study and tests at the Boston City hospital, Dr. Sydney Selesnick deposes and says:

"Alcoholic intoxication in the biologic sense without any gross manifestations of drunkenness can produce sufficient interference with psychomotor activity and neuromuscular coordination to render such an affected individual a potential menace."

Which is the doctor's way of saying that if you have been drinking, even though you are not drunk, you have no business driving a car.

Fair Enough

Peg Praises First Lady's Efforts

By Westbrook Pegler

SAN FRANCISCO.—Mrs. Roosevelt came to San Francisco from Los Angeles by train to deliver her lecture on peace at the very hour when the heads on the Bull-dog editions were yelling "Hitler Defies the World!" "France Threatens War on Germany!" She arrived at noon and was taken over the usual jumps by the inevitable committee. Her chores included an appearance on the grounds of the 1939 World's fair, where she sat on a tractor and went through the motions of turning the first gouge of ground for a federal building.

Some time during the day she had to turn out her syndicate copy, and presumably she took a few practice swings before her mirror at the hotel before advancing to the pulpit in the Civic auditorium to say her say on a subject which, in the present state of the world, only a brave and honest person would attempt. She spoke for an hour and 15 minutes to a crowd almost entirely made up of people over the combatant war age and then left by another night train for Fresno.

It had been another routine day in the life of one who is stungly described as the "most remarkable" and "most energetic" woman of her time in this country, but who deserves more than that. I think we can take the wraps off and call her the greatest American woman, because there is no other who works as hard or knows the low-down truth about the people and the troubles in their hearts as well as she does.

PROFIT BE DAMNED

And for what reason? Mrs. Roosevelt doesn't give a damn about politics in the partisan sense. Profit? She is one member of the family who will not have a dollar of profit to show for eight or more years of banging around the country in a schedule that would break the body and mind of an old-time circus trouper.

There was no style about her audience for the lecture on peace. Undoubtedly there were some mere fans and some more or less deserving Democrats, but the spirit of the gathering, if it is possible to describe a spirit—was one of earnest hope for some cheerful news, some discovery of a formula that would touch the soul of the monster who had just kidnapped a whole country in Europe and threatened to kidnap another as soon as he got his wind.

Of course the Communists were out, as usual, trying to thumb a ride. Outside the hall they were distributing a tract by Earl Browder advocating cooperation of the peaceful countries.

With the Moscow slaughterhouse to boycott the Reich and Italy and in the hour of victory leaving Russia's military power and her colleagues push-overs for the Brownists, the Soviet union, he said, is fully prepared to defend herself, but "preparedness" for this country he ridiculed as warlike and reactionary.

EFFORT CREDITABLE

Mrs. Roosevelt's effort is the more creditable because she works in the straightjacket of diplomatic and political restraints. Many tempting weapons and arguments lie just out of her reach, because, obviously, she cannot mention Hitler or Germany or go into the particulars of international disputes in the situation. Standing before an unsightly and ragged bit of scenery intended to represent either a peacock's fan or an iridescent clamshell, she nevertheless got home her argument that peace now is not the exclusive business of some distant thing called government but the personal concern and duty of every individual who must be affected by war.

How peace, then? Well, by tolerance, by the sacrifice of minor differences, by a sincere, by far to know and respect the good in other people, by teaching the kids in the family circle to get on together without resort to fists on the slightest provocation.

Futile, perhaps, and even silly and pathetic to realists. Mrs. Roosevelt's argument. Nevertheless, it followed the line of truth, for all other formulas think of peace through war, which has never succeeded yet, except Browder's, which is, of course, a trap. She has been taking eloquence lessons, for she is inclined to whoop, but her speech is improving and the electrical gimmick doesn't zink and crackle when she speaks as it does for most women orators.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been before us for five years now. We know her better than any other woman, and she knows the country better than any other individual, including her husband, and the profit is all on our side.

BRIGHT MOMENTS

Gen. Nathan B. Forrest, the great soldier of the American Confederacy, found his troops hotly pursued by federal troops near Cowan's station. His men were retreating, and Gen. Forrest was shouting, "The movement, when a fiery old lady, who did not recognize the general, walked out to the road, shook her fist in his face, and exclaimed: 'Why don't you turn and fight, you cowardly old rascal? If Forrest were here he'd make you fight!'"

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"Oh, Mr. Hovey, I'm afraid I've been neglecting you all evening."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

MARCH 18, 1913

SALONKI, Greece.—King George of Greece was assassinated this afternoon while walking in the streets of Salonki. The assassin was a Greek of low mentality, who gave his name as Aleko Schinas. He shot the king through the heart. The king was accompanied only by an aide de camp. The assassin came suddenly at the king and fired one shot from a revolver. The monarch died on the way to the hospital, and Schinas was immediately overpowered by a crowd which quickly gathered. Crown Prince Constantine, who succeeds King George, is at Janina at present but is expected to come here at once.

CINCINNATI.—George B. Cox, political leader and vice president of the Cincinnati Trust company, with 10 other officers and directors of the company, were indicted today on charges of violating the state, banking laws. One of the counts alleges the misappropriation of $115,000 of the company's funds through illegal loans.

The supervisors yesterday afternoon set May 6 as the date for hearing the petition for the organization of a Security Protection district, being a plan for protection of the Cincinnati Trust company. The district as proposed will embrace land from Olive to Garden Grove and provide for all that area north of the district served by the Newport protection district.

Remarkable Remarks

Modern methods of our industrial life have brought it about that industrial activities have become centered and concentrated in large combinations—Judge Oliver B. Dickinson, U. S. district court, Philadelphia.

I'm not thinking of turning professional now. I have one main ambition in mind, and that is to help the United States keep the Davis cup—provided I can make the team.—Don Budge, America's No. 1 tennis star.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

I don't think an actor's necessarily conceited just because he hires a publicity man to write nice things about him. Pret' near everybody likes to hear nice things said about himself.

One time down home, our worst citizen was arrested for stealing things. When the trial came up, he told the judge he wanted a lawyer to defend him. The judge said, "Well, you were caught red-handed and you've already confessed the crime. I can't imagine anything a lawyer could say in your behalf."

The prisoner said "I don't either, Judge—that's what I'm curious to hear."

Ambassadors Wilson, Bullitt See Europe Heading for 4-Power Pact

WASHINGTON.—The most important (though not necessarily the most sound) European advice reaching the state department in recent weeks has been from its two ambassadors in Berlin and Paris, Hugh Wilson and Bill Bullitt.

These two men are close friends, agree on most things and to a considerable extent have been steering U. S. policy toward Europe. The advice they have been cableing back is that Europe was headed for a four power agreement—France, Great Britain, Germany and Italy.

Bullitt, ambassador to France, has developed a near-phobia of hated against Russia, since he was ambassador to that country and has been urging his French friends to desert Russia for a four power agreement. Hugh Wilson feels similarly.

A four power pact, they have told the state department, is the early solution of and safeguard for European peace.

One important fact they overlooked, however, which was borne out by last week's events in Austria, is that a four power pact, as written only at the dictation of Italy and Germany. These two are writing their own terms.

And an all-essential part of those terms is the return of German colonies. According to diplomats who are certainly in a position to know, Mussolini and Hitler have a hard and fast agreement that there will be no four power pact until Britain has returned her colonies to Germany.

That is going to be a tough nut for the British to crack. In fact, it is so tough, that probably there will be no four power pact.

NON-STATISTICAL TALK

The house debate on the tax bill was not entirely confined to statistics. The boys took time out for some personal observations.

During a speech by North Carolina's Bob Doughton, chairman of the ways and means committee which drafted the legislation, Representative Allen Treadway of Massachusetts, ranking Republican member of the committee, broke in with the sharp query, "What is the gentleman aiming at? Where is he headed for?"

"Let me finish my statement," pleaded Doughton.

"Is the gentleman coming or going?"

"He is not standing on his head, anyway," roared back Doughton, "like the gentleman from Massachusetts!"

The news leak from the comptroller general's office that the Tennessee Valley authority had spent about $5,000,000 illegally, was generally interpreted as a reflection against Majority Commissioners David Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan and as supporting Chairman Arthur Morgan's charges against them.

Actually, however, Chairman Morgan was the delinquent figure in the so-called ill-fated expenditure, though most common-sense business men would have agreed with him.

Fact was that in winning its earlier reputation for completing dam projects while PWA work lagged, the TVA cut miles of red tape and that is what the comptroller general's office is squawking about.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for public talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words.

IT'S BLACKMAIL

To the Editor: Why not catch the criminal when he is a child? Get hold of these bad characters during the formative years of their lives and change their erring ways. There is a great opportunity for reform right here in Santa Ana.

For instance, in my neighborhood there are young vandals who sell "Lahwa Aangelees paaphurss" at the top of their voices on Sunday morning in front of my house, and Sunday is the only day I have to sleep. One Sunday recently I went to the window and looked with them, nicely of course. They agreed to go away if I would buy a paper.

I went back to bed and all was fine until the next Sunday morning when they deliberately set up a clatter to force me to buy a paper before they would go away. Pure gangsterism, I call it, even if on a paltry scale, but who knows what effect this practice may have on the embryonic characters of these young men of tomorrow. I appeal to your paper to engage in a crusade against young criminals. I shall appreciate all efforts you may put forth in this matter.

A DAILY READER

Santa Ana.
P. S.—I am now negotiating with these young rascals to buy the Sunday paper Saturday night before I go to bed, so they will not come around and wake me up in the morning, but, frankly, do you think this is a real solution to the basic underlying problem?

SEES WOLVES COMING

To the Editor: In addition to seeing huge pieces in Europe, Africa and Asia, presently the wolves will tear a slice out of South America, only a stone's throw from Uncle Sam's door, and the three dictator wolves, drunk with their successes, with hordes of followers, and with overwhelming force, will proceed to carve up the world. Uncle Sam, overwhelmed, isolated and without a friend, will be unable to resist.

Yes, Uncle Sam, you unnatural parent! You sacrificed your offspring, your League of Nations child, to the wolves! Already you are beginning to suffer for your unworthy and unpardonable neglect. The actually contemplated huge naval expenditure is but the beginning of your troubles. The wolves will get you. You've no one to blame but yourself!

THOMAS WILLIAMS.

PEOPLE WILL NOT TOLERATE TIUP

Southern California faces another tieup of shipping, and right now is the time for the people to announce boldly they do not intend to stand for it.

The last tieup, lasting a hundred days, cost many millions of dollars. Thousands of men and women lost their jobs, little industrial concerns went into bankruptcy and hundreds of thousands of boxes of California oranges desired in Europe could not be shipped.

The present business recession in Southern California dates from the last port tieup.

There has been too rapid development of the idea that all labor controversies are the troubles of the federal government and of no direct concern to local or state government.

We say this latest port tieup is the direct concern of the governor of the state of California. The people of California are those who are to suffer if this is to be another 100-day tieup or even a week's tieup.

We say unless there is an immediate settlement it is the duty of the governor of California to conduct a prompt investigation, make public those findings, request the parties responsible to end the dispute—and if they do not it take action himself to end it.

The public welfare requires that ships move in and out of San Pedro harbor and that they be unloaded and loaded.

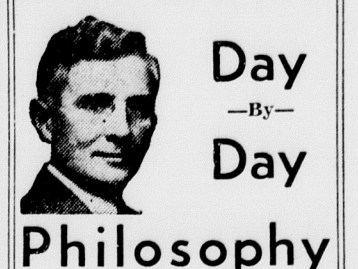

On the face of the evidence so far offered there is a dispute as to which of two unions is to unload freight cars. The employers allege there is an agreement that such disputes are to be submitted to the national labor relations board and that both unions have refused to arbitrate their disagreement with each other. One of the unions called it a lock-out.

Southern California must not be forced to suffer the consequences of continued strife at its principal harbor. The people simply will not stand for it—or the public officials with each other. It—San Bernardino Sun.

CARNEGIE'S

Day
—By—
Day
Philosophy

In the late nineties, a stoutish young man sat down on a bench in City Hall park, New York, to rest his tired feet. He had been making the desultory rounds of the newspaper offices in search of a job he hadn't found. That he had been on a newspaper from boyhood and editor of the News in Paducah, Ky., since the age of 19, didn't seem to mean a thing to New York editors. They were looking for men familiar with the metropolitan area. The letters he had written before coming to New York apparently had never been read. There was a wife and little daughter back home too, and the $200 he had brought with him.

STERN STUFF
But this young man was bred of stern stuff; his aching feet must be ignored. "It's time to do something about this," Irvin Cobb told himself, as he lifted his feet to the bench, leaned back, raised his eyes to the blue above, and did some keen thinking. His letters had made no impression. Why? Perhaps they were too much like other letters on the same quest. Good or bad, he was going to write a letter that was different.

When a new batch of letters went out to the editors that night they told that he was tired of sitting around armchairs trying to impress office boys. He put a chuckle into those letters, and at least five editors got that chuckle, for that was the number that wrote him to come around for a try-out.

COBB GETS JOB

Irvin Cobb got his job on a chuckle, and, what is more important, he didn't let his editor down after he got the job. There were many chuckles and broad laughs in the series of newspaper articles he wrote for his paper. He went from newspaper work to serious fiction writing. He was a war correspondent in the early days of the World war, and loves to tell jokes about his experiences. He found that his name made a great impression, even on French hotel clerks. They "Yes, Mr. Cobb," him until he was beginning to be blasé about it all. Then one day he overheard someone explaining, as interested glances were shot his way, "That's Ty Cobb, the famous American baseball player over there."

CAN YOU SELL?

Since then, Irvin Cobb has entertained us on stage and screen, over the radio, and on countless magazine pages, and he always sells himself with a chuckle. Can you sell? Everyone has something to sell: wares, talents, ability. Many a good man has failed because he couldn't show his goods to advantage.

If you have chuckles within you, maybe they can do as much for you as they did for Irvin Cobb. If you keep cheerful, you will help others to be cheerful, and selling will be a much easier and more enjoyable line of work.
